Cleaning instructions

Shake out leather & cowhide rugs instead of vacuuming them to remove loose dirt and dust.

Gently brush animal skin rugs in the direction of the grain (or the hair growth). If your leather rug has hair, lightly brush the leather with a wire rug brush designed for brushing fur. If your leather rug does not have hair, use a suede brush instead.

To remove stains, use a leather cleaner. If possible, choose a leather cleaner that is specifically for use with your particular animal skin type.

Apply a leather conditioner if the rug is very hard and brittle. If possible, choose a leather conditioner that is specifically made for the type of animal skin rug you have.

Waterproof and seal your leather rugs after they've been cleaned.
